Our Dedication to Those Who Protect and Serve

GALLS® is committed to giving back to the people who protect and serve this nation every day by investing in their communities through support for causes such as officer wellness, fallen officer memorial funds, and local first-responder initiatives. By building lasting partnerships with our customers and working closely with agencies and departments, we strive to understand each unique need for equipment and uniforms rather than simply filling orders. At GALLS, we are Proud To Serve Those Who Serve.

MISSION MADE

Mission Made® is GALLS' tactical apparel and gear brand built for professionals and everyday adventurers who demand more from their equipment. We are redefining what tactical attire means in today's world. The brand offers an extensive lineup spanning apparel, footwear, accessories, EDC gear, and bags & packs, all engineered for reliability, versatility, and comfort in high-pressure environments. Mission Made delivers superior quality at an accessible price point—striking a balance that keeps professionals equipped without breaking the budget.

Built for the modern individual who values both form and function, Mission Made gear features practical, durable construction with performance-oriented fabrics that are breathable, moisture-wicking, and weather-resistant. Whether transitioning from active duty to daily life or from the trail to the job site, Mission Made products are designed to adapt—making it the go-to choice for those who need gear that works as hard as they do.

PROTECTOR'S PRAYER

The Story Behind The Protector's Prayer

The Protector's Prayer began with a truth: the men and women who stand between danger and the innocent carry a burden most will never fully understand.

In June 2018, its founder felt a quiet nudge to do something meaningful for the men and women he served beside. In that moment he asked, "Lord, what do you want?"

// protectors never face the unknown alone

What followed was written in a moment of obedience, not planning. The words came quickly after asking that simple question.

Today, The Protector's Prayer has spread quietly throughout the protector community. It has been framed in stations, taped inside lockers, and read before shifts across the country.

For many, the prayer is more than words on a page. It offers courage, strength, and a reminder that protectors never face the unknown alone.

Megan and
Nicholas Menster,
Founder of The Protector's Prayer

More about
Her BlueWear™

Fit for the Job. Equipping

For decades, Law Enforcement uniforms were built around a single template — one that assumed the person wearing it was male. Female officers made it work. They took in waistbands, rolled up sleeves, cinched belts that were never designed to sit on their hips, and adjusted body armor that gapped in the chest and rode up at the collar. It was tolerated as the cost of doing the job.

That standard is no longer good enough — and GALLS® is helping change it.

Because women make up around 14 percent — almost 100,000 officers — of Law Enforcement officers nationwide, GALLS has invested in uniform lines and apparel engineered specifically for the female form: contoured waistbands, adjusted rise and inseam ratios, tailored shoulder and bust construction, and body armor carriers built to accommodate curves rather than flatten them. The goal isn't to make uniforms "smaller" versions of the men's cut — it's to rebuild them from the ground up so they move the way a woman's body moves.

Women In Law Enforcement.

GALLS' approach to female — specific uniforms and apparel reflects a broader industry shift toward equity in gear. Purpose—built uniforms and apparel are a tangible, daily reminder that agencies are investing in their female officers. GALLS continues to expand its women's uniform and gear offerings, working from the principle that professionalism, mobility, and confidence shouldn't be compromises female officers have to make.

Built Specifically for Female Officers,

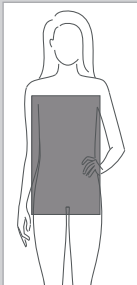

Her BlueWear™ Uniforms

Her BlueWear™ Uniforms provide safer uniforms tailored to the specific needs of women working in public safety, and particularly Law Enforcement. Her BlueWear™ designs, manufactures, and delivers uniforms that address comfort and safety issues, significantly mitigating risk in the line of duty.

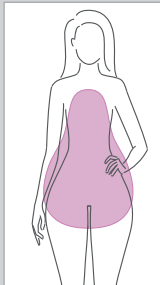

STREAMLINED FIT (Better Known as Rectangle)

- Your shoulders & hips generally the same size.
- Your waist is not very defined.
- Your pants often are too tight in the waist.

DEFINED FIT (Better Known as Pear-Shaped)

- Your hips are larger than your waist.
- You have a slimmer, defined waist.
- Your pants often fit in the hips and thighs but gap at the waist.

BALANCED FIT (Better Known as Hour-Glass)

- Your bust and hips are generally the same size.
- You have a naturally defined, slimmer waist.
- Your pants often don't fit your curves.

PRESENTED BY GALLS

A Partnership Built

Founded in 2017, the National Law Enforcement Officer Hall of Fame (NLEOHOF) recognizes law enforcement officers who have gone above and beyond in their duties, making a profound impact on their communities. Each year, the Hall of Fame inducts officers—active, retired, or fallen—whose stories of courage, dedication, and service deserve to be heard and celebrated. Beyond recognition, the organization also provides vital mental health support to current and former officers, ensuring their well-being as they continue to serve.

*celebrate the heroes who make our communities
safer and stronger*

The mission of the NLEOHOF aligns seamlessly with GALLS' commitment to supporting law enforcement professionals. At GALLS®, we recognize the sacrifices officers make daily. Partnering with the NLEOHOF allows us to amplify their stories, honor their achievements, and contribute to a cause that uplifts the law enforcement community.

on Duty, Honor, and Service

GALLS proudly stands behind those who serve and protect. That's why we're honored to partner with the NLEOHOF. Through this partnership, GALLS reaffirms its dedication to those who protect and serve. Together with the National Law Enforcement Officer Hall of Fame, we celebrate the heroes who make our communities safer and stronger.

GALLS is proud to become the new home of the National Law Enforcement Officer Hall of Fame. A dedicated Wall of Fame will be unveiled at GALLS corporate headquarters in Lexington, Kentucky, displaying portraits of every past inductee in a single, lasting tribute. Open to visiting families, agencies, and the public safety community, the Wall of Fame will ensure that the courage and sacrifice of each honored officer remain on permanent display—preserving their legacies for generations to come and inspiring the thousands of GALLS team members who serve those who serve, every single day.

To learn more about the NLEOHOF, their mission and how you can nominate an officer for the Hall of Fame, visit www.nationaleohalloffame.com

GALLS® Social Media

For nearly 60 years, GALLS® has been the trusted outfitter for America's Law Enforcement, Firefighters, EMS, Military, and Security professionals. We don't just supply gear— we support the readiness and professionalism that the job demands, before the moment happens. Our social channels and blog are where that commitment shows up every day.

Follow us on LinkedIn, Facebook, Instagram, and YouTube for new products, real-world in-sights, agency solutions, and a closer look at the people and gear behind the job. Whether you're managing department logistics or outfitting yourself for the field, there's always something worth knowing.

And when you want to go deeper, check out The Front Line blog at GALLS.com for buying guides, event coverage, and topics that matter, from gear selection to first responder mental health. Written by and for public safety professionals, it is grounded in experience, not guesswork.

Over a million public safety professionals choose GALLS every year. Join the community.

Duty to Act Coffee

Before the alarm sounds, there is coffee. For brothers Eli and Max Held — one a firefighter, one a police officer — it was never just caffeine. It was the quiet moment before the world asked everything of them, just as it does of you.

Watching colleagues fall in the line of duty and seeing the gap left behind, the Held brothers founded Duty to Act Coffee Co. in 2020. Buy a bag of ethically sourced, American-roasted coffee, and 10% of that purchase flows directly to first responder and community support organizations. No gimmicks. Just coffee doing real work.

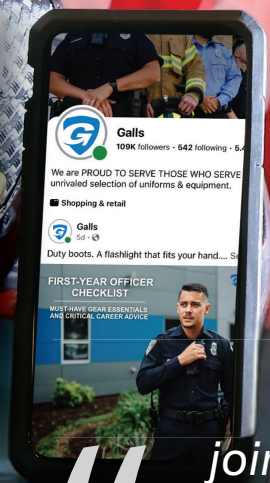

Today, Duty to Act is poured in hundreds of firehouses, police departments, and emergency rooms across the country — grief metabolized into purpose, one shared cup at a time.

Some companies sell coffee. Duty to Act Coffee Co. keeps a promise. Check them out at www.dutytoact.shop

Supporting Those Left Behind

The Law Enforcement community faces immense challenges, with an average of 140 to 160 officers losing their lives in the line of duty each year. While the public honors these sacrifices during highly publicized processions, the families and co-workers of these fallen professionals are left to navigate a devastating and permanent loss long after the ceremonies conclude.

To support these surviving families and colleagues, Concerns of Police Survivors (C.O.P.S.) provides essential, ongoing assistance. As a national non-profit organization with 53 chapters across the country, C.O.P.S. is dedicated to connecting more than 87,000 survivors with vital peer support, ensuring they can rely on a network that truly understands their unique circumstances.

// a network that truly understands //

Built and led by those who have experienced similar tragedies, C.O.P.S. delivers reliable resources, including assistance with benefits, educational scholarships, and retreat-style weekends and camps for surviving family members and co-workers. Through this steadfast commitment, the organization serves as a trusted pillar for the Law Enforcement community, helping survivors rebuild their shattered lives and ultimately find hope again.

Visit C.O.P.S (www.concernsofpolicesurvivors.org) to learn how you can support their mission.

The Gold Shields

The Gold Shields is a leading true-crime podcast hosted by retired NYPD detectives Tom Smith and Dan Murphy. Through candid conversations with law enforcement professionals, military operators, journalists, and survivors, the show delivers firsthand accounts of major investigations, high-risk operations, and life-changing events. Notable guests have included FBI Director Kash Patel, and Trevor Fortner, a U.S. Navy veteran and elite Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) expert offering unique perspectives on stories that have shaped communities and public safety.

With listeners in more than 120 countries and over 5,000 cities worldwide, Gold Shields has surpassed 110,000 downloads and built a loyal audience drawn to its commitment to truth, accountability, and authentic storytelling. GALLS® is proud to partner with The Gold Shields through a shared dedication to the Law Enforcement and Public Safety community. for First Responders

LEO Support Foundation

The LEO Support Foundation, founded in 2017 by two police officers, is a 501(c)(3) non-profit dedicated to supporting Law Enforcement officers, first responders, and their families. The organization has provided life-saving equipment, such as tourniquets and QuikClot bandages, to over 2,000 officers across nine U.S. states, with testimonials highlighting its critical impact in emergencies.

Through its “Start Me Another Car” (S.M.A.C.) initiative, launched in 2021, the Foundation addresses mental health challenges like PTSD and depression, offering resources, activities, and training to help first responders manage trauma and reconnect with their families. As part of its resources, the LEO Support Foundation partners with “Struggle Well” to provide training that equips first responders with tools for trauma recovery and growth.

The co-founders, Lieutenant Michael Best and Sergeant Daniel Mahoney, were inducted into the National Law Enforcement Officer Hall of Fame in 2022 for their efforts to support the physical and mental well-being of first responders. Visit www.saveleos.org to learn more.

Tracing 250 Years of U.S.

GALLS® is proud to sponsor the National Law Enforcement Officers Museum's online exhibit, Preserving Democracy: Law Enforcement in the New Nation, in recognition of the anniversary of America's 250th founding. The digital exhibit was curated to educate viewers about the early history of American Law Enforcement and how that history reflects the history of America.

While Law Enforcement touches everyone's lives in some way, most of us are unaware of how modern police departments were formed or what Law Enforcement looked like when the nation was founded.

// curated to educate viewers about ... American Law Enforcement //

The exhibit begins by discussing the early colonial origins of American Law Enforcement and the European models it followed. Visitors will learn how different cities handled different problems and how uniquely

Law Enforcement

American attitudes toward centralized authority created tension between Law Enforcement and the people they were trying to police. The exhibit describes the challenges Law Enforcement encountered as the American population moved west and how officers had to adapt to a difficult, isolating environment. Finally, viewers will learn how political corruption and escalating crime in 19th century cities created the need for sweeping police reform, leading to the modern, professional departments we recognize today.

Online visitors will also be able to view artifacts from the Museum's collection and learn how Law Enforcement technology has evolved over time, from batons and paddy wagons to radios and patrol cars.

Understanding the New NIJ 0101.07 Body Armor Standard

THE WHY: NIJ Standard 0101.06 was written in 2008. Over sixteen years, real gaps emerged. NIJ 0101.07 fixes all of this in the first full revision since the program began.

NEW NAMING SYSTEM: Roman numerals (II, IIIA, III, IV) are replaced by threat-based codes: HG1 and HG2 for handgun protection, RF1, RF2, and RF3 for rifle protection. Level IIA is retired entirely. The new names tell you immediately what type of threat the armor is rated for.

BIG ADDITION: RF2 is brand new — the formally defined intermediate rifle tier the industry needed for years. It adds the 5.56mm M855 “green tip” to the RF1 test threats. This replaces vague “III+” marketing with a real, independently tested certification that gives dealers and agencies a specific, defensible answer on green tip coverage.

STRICTER TESTING: Conditioned (worn) armor must now pass at the same velocities as new armor. There is no more relaxed standard for aged vests. A seventh angled shot is added at the neckline, 45-degree edge shots are now required, and environmental conditioning happens before ballistic testing. Women’s armor is now tested on a formed anatomical mold rather than a flat surface.

WHAT IT MEANS FOR BUYERS: 0101.06-certified armor is not obsolete. The existing Compliant Products List stays valid through at least 2029. The first 0101.07 CPL was published in July 2026. Specify “NIJ 0101.06 or 0101.07 certified” for new procurement — both are legitimate. 0101.07 armor is expected to weigh the same or less, not more.

Call us today at 844.GO-GALLS to find out more.

Championing the Thin Blue Line

Rebbecca Volpe, the voice behind, Proud Police Wife, is a blogger, influencer, author, and former elementary school teacher who has embraced a unique and challenging lifestyle as the wife of a Law Enforcement officer. With over 20 years of experience as a police wife, Rebecca has transformed her personal journey into a platform of support and encouragement for Law Enforcement families.

After leaving her teaching career to focus on her family, Rebecca found her calling as a writer, creating a community that offers resources, motivation, and solidarity for police spouses. Her blog is a haven for those navigating the complexities of being married to a Law Enforcement officer—a life that demands flexibility, independence, and resilience.

Rebecca's content resonates deeply with her audience, addressing the struggles of loneliness, frustration, and the challenges of solo parenting. Through her weekly newsletter, she provides practical advice and emotional support and for those looking for real conversations, she also offers a relatable podcast called Proud Police Wife.

Beyond her blog, Rebecca connects with her community on social media (@proudpwife), sharing daily glimpses into her life and creating relatable, humorous content through reels. Her mission is clear: to remind police spouses that they are not alone and to foster a sense of unity as they walk the thin blue line together.

“a platform of support and encouragement”

GALLS® is proud to partner with Rebecca, whose unwavering dedication and ability to foster a strong, united community are vital to supporting Law Enforcement families. Follow her on social media and check out her website at www.proudpolicewife.com for more resources.

P.S. — Rebecca's husband loves his Mission Made tactical pants, vest, gaiter and other Mission Made apparel. Check out them out today.
